

How To Sell H Bonds

How To Sell H Bonds - HH bonds were available only in exchange for Series EE or Series E bonds or upon reinvestment of matured Series H bonds. You paid face amount; i.e., a $500 HH bond sold for $500. The interest rate of an HH bond was set on the day it was purchased and remained that rate for 10 years. After 10 years the rate could have been changed. With these current-income bonds, the initial interest rate is reset to market rates after 10 years. Interest is paid to the bond owner every six months by check or direct deposit. In 1971 a woman purchased 16 series H bonds that total $15,500. That woman has passed away. I am a lawyer and the guardian of her daughter who has been adjudged incapacitated by the court. The daughter inherited the bonds without a will. I am a lawyer and I need to cash these bonds. Note: If you find a savings bond that belongs to someone else or buy a savings bond on an online auction site, you cannot redeem it. Savings bonds cannot be transferred, sold, or traded. Savings bonds cannot be transferred, sold, or traded.